

"ECLIPSE FIRST AND THE REST NOWHERE."

Editorial Comment

The polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. Vote early.

Nicaragua held a presidential election Saturday and Adolfo Diaz, the provisional president, was the only man voted for.

The one discordant note is likely to be found in Tennessee, where the Democratic party is split and Hooper has a chance to be re-elected.

Hon. Jas. M. Lang, former mayor of Paducah, is tipped to succeed Judge A. W. Barkley as county judge, when he becomes congressman.

The Louisville Herald says only a handful of Republicans turned out to hear the mighty William O. Bradley orate at a much-advertised rally in Louisville.

Uncle Tom Gaskins, who applied for license to marry a young widow at Dresden, Tenn., forgot her name and had to go out and get the needed information.

To-day's landslide will break all records in modern politics. Wilson will get everything except a few complimentary votes for the President and the Colonel.

The presidential election in Cuba Friday resulted in a walk-over for Gen. Mario Menocal who has issued a card of greeting to the people of the United States, saying he will prove worthy of the confidence reposed in him.

Lieut. Vothis, a Greek naval officer, slipped into the port of Saloniki and blew up a Turkish battleship. The Lieutenant used a big "I" eight times in making his report, the intention being that he considers himself a good Rear Admiralty timber.

WILSON

WILL WIN

Every Test of Popular Sentiment Shows Certain Victory.

CONGRESS AND SENATE TOO.

Wilson is Expected to Get Not Less Than 400 Electoral Votes Out of 531.

Every test of popular sentiment taken just before the election shows that Woodrow Wilson will be overwhelmingly victorious. Nation-wide canvasses conducted by newspapers and correspondents from every quarter of the country are unanimous in their prediction of sweeping Democratic success.

The New York Herald gives Wilson 387, Taft 27, Roosevelt 7 and the rest doubtful with a likelihood that Wilson will get 461 electoral votes.

A Long Sentence.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson's message to the voters of the United States, which was read at the gathering of Democrats at every county seat in our country last Saturday, was a great paper. The closing sentence of the first paragraph contained exactly 156 words. My! What a lot of good sense there was in it—and the entire address, too.

TURKS ARE ON THE LAST LINE ELECTION NEWS

And Have Appealed To Powers For Mediation—Conditions are Critical—Panic Prevails in Constantinople and Crime is Rampant.

That the Turkish army has retreated to the last line of fortifications outside Constantinople was admitted in the first official bulletin admitting defeat. The Porte has applied to the Powers for mediation with a view to cessation of hostilities. Constantinople is in a panic over reports from the battlefield. Crime is rampant in the city and a general massacre is feared.

Rain and Snow.

Washington, Nov. 3—A storm, now central west of the Rocky mountains, is coming eastward, bringing local rains and snows for the northern and rains for the southern districts. The storm, according to the weather bureau's weekly bulletin, will prevail over the great central valleys Tuesday and the eastern states about Wednesday.

"Another storm, attended by general precipitation, will reach the north Pacific states Wednesday or Thursday, prevail over the middle west about Friday or Saturday and the eastern states near the close of the week. A change to decidedly colder weather will follow."

Frost at Last.

Sunday morning Nov. 3 brought with it the first real frost of this delightful fall season in the glorious climate of Southern Kentucky. It was hard on the flies and mosquitos. There will be another one this morning that will be equally as hard on Bull Moose and Elephants.

Tried For Idiocy.

Eza White, aged 14, was tried for idiot Friday afternoon before Judge Hasberry. After hearing the testimony of his father and another witness and an examination of the boy, the jury decided that the boy was so weak mentally that his parents should be allowed $75 a year for taking care of him. John White, the father, lives a few miles east of Kelly station. The boy is not only weak mentally, but physically. He never tried to walk until he was six years of age.

Sanitary Dairy.

Riley Atkins is building a sanitary dairy on the Phelps place, just outside the city west of the Canton pike. The concrete floor and foundation will soon be ready for the carpenters and it will not be long before Mr. Atkins will commence business. An entrance, leading from West 17th street, is to be opened, and will be a great convenience to Mr. Atkins and his patrons.

TO-NIGHT

Will Be Received Here at the Circuit Court Room By Wire.

OVER THE POSTAL LINE.

Chairman Radford, of the Campaign Committee, Has So Arranged.

Walter Radford, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, has arranged for receiving election returns tonight as fast as they come over the wire and they will be announced as received. This is a fine arrangement, as the Circuit Court room will be comfortable and those deeply interested in the result of the election in every state need not go home "until early in the morning."

Scotch Women.

Scotch women, of the St. Andrew's Society, Washington, are on the war-path because the men have decided to have a stag banquet and drink Scotch whisky, instead of having a cold-water affair with the women present.

Meeting At Casky

A series of meetings began at Casky Baptist church Sunday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J.F. Gordon.

HIS AUTO BUCKED

And Gov. Wilson Gets a Painful Scalp Wound.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson was injured Sunday when the automobile in which he was returning from Red Bank "bucked" and his head struck the roof of the car, inflicting a scalp wound three inches long. The Governor stopped at Highstown, where a physician dressed the injury and then continued his trip to Princeton.

A BRACE OF COLLISIONS.

Very Close Calls But Nobody Was Injured.

Saturday afternoon a negro by the name of Douglas Caldwell, who was driving a mule attached to a Jersey wagon, drove into a buggy near the Planters Hardware Company and turned it over. Mrs. McGee and another lady were in the buggy which was standing near the curb. Mrs. McGee came very near being injured. Had not a gentleman taken hold of her and lifted her out there is no telling what the consequences might have been. The other lady jumped out as soon as she realized her danger.

The negro drove on as if nothing had happened, but was later arrested. He had his trial before City Judge Wood yesterday morning and was fined $26, which he will work out on the streets.

Saturday afternoon Judge Chas. Prowse and Mrs. George Kolb were driving out the Nashville pike to take a photograph of Mrs. Kolb's horses. They had gotten on the bridge at Cate's mill when they collided with another buggy, both having a wheel broken.
